The Department of Mass Communication combines into a single liberal arts program tracks in Broadcasting, Print Journalism, and Public Relations. Students will choose academic courses in the specific track selected—Broadcasting, Journalism, or Public Relations—and enjoy opportunities to become involved with WNCP-TV, the University’s public affairs television station, or The Pine Needle, the campus newspaper.

All students enrolled in the Mass Communication program take 15 hours of core major courses, including an internship in their track.

COURSES

MASS COMMUNICATION (MCM)

MCM 2100. Introduction to Mass Communication
Examination of channels used to communicate with mass audiences in the United States, with emphasis on developments in books, newspapers, magazines, film, radio, television, and the World Wide Web. Includes news, advertising, public relations, New Media, and global communications concepts and the social, cultural, political, and economic impacts of media on society. Controls on media will be described, and media theories will be explored. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 2400. Writing for the Media
An introduction to mass media writing formats, styles, and conventions for print journalism, broadcasting, and public relations. The basic formats, techniques, and professional principles needed to develop skills in writing news stories, press releases, broadcast, advertising, and Web copy. Credit, 3 semester hours. PREREQ: ENG 1050.

MCM 2500. Film Appreciation
A holistic examination of feature films and their impact on culture and society. While emphasis is given to the American film experience, global perspectives will also be examined. Course foundations begin with the evolution of film and the historical development of the discursive techniques used to convey meaning to audiences. Topics regarding the aesthetics of films (mise en scene, kinetics, narrative, etc.) will follow, revealing the language and techniques inherent in the art of modern-day filmmaking. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 3000. World Media
This course compares mass media systems in select countries or regions to reveal differences and similarities in purpose, economy, regulation, and reception by their national and international audiences. Theories of media and society, including normative theories of media, are related to the diverse cultural traditions and political regimes in which mass communication occurs around the world. Credit, 3 semester hours. PREREQ: MCM 2100 or GGY/WLS 2000 or PLS/WLS 2510.

MCM 3100. New Media of Mass Communication
An introduction to the emerging media of mass communication that employ online and social media technologies, including best practices and theoretical perspectives as they are used in the operations of converged media industries, including news and entertainment environments. The course introduces systems such as blogging and micro-blogging, social networking, image and video sharing, collaborative wikis, digital storytelling, virtual reality worlds, and others along with the concepts of citizen journalism, rich media, and other contemporary topics. The course also investigates ethics and diversity issues surrounding the technologies and their social, cultural, and political impact. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 3600. Media and Society
An examination of how communication media operate as industries, makers of meaning, and shapers of our public world. Although the course focuses on the United States, attention is given to globalization of media institutions, texts, and audiences. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 3660. Media and Culture
Critical, philosophic inquiry into the influence of media technologies and economies on popular culture, and vice versa, using grand theories and theoretical perspectives of the modern (and postmodern) era. Students will consider what thinkers such as Marx, Freud, and McLuhan said, or would have said, about music, dance, fashion, film, broadcasting, journalism, and other arts. Credit, 3 semester hours. PREREQ: ENG 1060 plus one of the following: PHI 1000, PHI 4230, MCM 2100, MCM 3600.

MCM 3700. Media and Politics
This introductory course explores the increasing interaction between makers of domestic and foreign policy and global news media, especially newspapers, television, magazines, radio and the internet. Their symbiotic relationships are analyzed through case studies. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 4050. Media Law and Ethics
Legal and ethical considerations as they apply to the daily work of media practitioners. Emphasis on codes of ethics, professional codes, and state, federal, and local law. Credit, 3 semester hours. PRE-REQ: MCM 2100, 2400; Junior or Senior status.

MCM 4130. Internship in Mass Communication
Practical application of the principles of broadcasting, journalism, and public relations in the workplace. Interns will work in broadcasting stations, newspapers, public relations offices, and related sites under the supervision of experienced professionals. Interns will write papers evaluating their experiences as they relate to MCM courses. Credit, 3 semester hours. PREREQ: Consent of instructor. May not be taken by non-MCM majors.

MCM 4140. Internship in Mass Communication
A second internship which MCM majors may take as an elective. It is not part of the Core Course requirement. Same requirements and prerequisites as MCM 4130. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCM 4360. Mass Communication Theory and Research
A review of social scientific theories of mass communication and an exploration of research methods used in our academic discipline and our professions. Attention is paid to the differences between quantitative and qualitative methods, the differences between basic and applied research, and research ethics. PREREQ: MCM 2100, 2400. Credit, 3 sem. hours.

MCM 4550. Senior Thesis
A self-directed research project that is conceived, designed, and executed by the student and mentored by a faculty member, resulting in a substantive, completed, original work that is publication- or presentation-ready. Credit, 3 semester hours. PREREQ: 3.0 QPA, senior standing, MCM 4360, and permission of department chair.

MCM 4990. Independent Study in Mass Communication
Individual study directed by consenting instructor. Advanced study topic, research project, or creative project chosen to meet individual student needs. May be repeated for a maximum of six credit hours. PREREQ: 2.0 QPA and permission of instructor and department head. Credit, 3 semester hours.

MCMS 4xxx. Special Topics in Mass Communication
Contemporary and advanced subject matter in the field. Topics to be announced. May be repeated to a maximum of 6 hours provided no topic is repeated. PREREQ: MCM 2100, 2400.
