Taco Bell will no longer be the only option for students and staff will find a new service at Starbucks on the campus instead.

“I personally hate to see Taco Bell go, but it’s a new style,” sophomore Christopher Chavis said.

Springs added that he likes the location and since there is already a Taco Bell in the Wal-Mart in Pembroke, Taco Bell really is not going away, but the closest Starbucks is in Florence. “I love coffee, but I don’t think the majority of students would be willing to pay for Starbucks’ prices for coffee.”

Sodexo plans to expand facilities in the new dorm because the building plans do not accommodate one. Holcombe hopes to remove the Taco Bell to help make the atmosphere more welcoming for students.

One idea that came up was substituting either World of Wings or the Sub Connection with Sandella’s Flatbread Café, according to Cynthia Oxenbould, the senior director of Campus Dining.

Sandella’s is not official, yet, but Sodexo is heavily involved in getting it on campus.

Holcombe added that B’ills plans on adding a few limited time offers to their menu. These offers could be items like mozzarella cheese and brownies amongst others that still up for debate.

“We really want something special for Mardi Gras,” Holcombe said.

Holcombe added that a lot of the menu items found at B’ills, such as the Memphis Wrap, were removed from the menu because they were not selling as well as some of the other menu items.

“We have a lot of planning to do, and I really want to hear from the students,” Holcombe said.

Holcombe said that students can email Holcombe at jim.holcombe@uncp.edu.
