We never would have been able to go to those places if not through athletics, Mahaffie said.

"Our parents are really proud," Clancy added.

"People here are willing to hold a door open, where you would never see that at home," Mahaffie said.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It's a lot of fun to be here, it’s a good atmosphere," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

On the men's side, senior Maurice Eubanks placed second in the 100-meter dash with a time of 10.69 seconds and third in the 200-meter dash clocking in at 21.87 seconds.

Senior fellow Karlos Jordan also ran in both races, finishing eighth with a time of 10.82 seconds in the 100-meter, turning in a 21.87-second time in the 200-meter race.

For the women, sophomore Wood Jones finished third in the 5000-meter run with a personal best time of 15:21.87.

Senior Katherine Davis proved four shots in her final round to jump into the top of the leaderboard and win the Wingate Pine Needle Challenge on March 21 and 22.

The Braves next compete in the Landers Shootout Golf Classic on March 28-29 at the South Carolina Sand Intercolligate Golf Tournament.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.

The UNCP men's and women's track and field teams competed in the Shamrock Invitational March 19 and 18.

"Kevin was here, but then there's no constant, daily rain the Northwest is known for," Clancy said.

"It would be a lot more exciting and fun if not through athletics," Mahaffie said as he explained how special the duo is having at UNCP, both recording personal best times in both 100- and 200-meter races.