Students prove ‘Pembroke’s Got Talent’

Danielle Hainston
Staff Writer

“I thought it was good, but not as good as last year,” sophomore Can dice Carr said.

Taking home the grand prize of $50 in bookstore cash and the chance to host ACE’s next open mic night was ninth performer Sheryyan Shipman. Her high notes and incredible passion while singing “Som eone Like You” by Adele placed her in second place for her rendition of “Someone Like You.”

Comfort Johnson came in third place after the audience voted through text messages. Members of SHRM will be collecting donations of video games, nonperishable foods and toiletries through Nov. 18. Students can drop items off in the UC Mall on Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Although the organization has only been active a year, SHRM has hosted many community service events, fundraisers and job fairs. Treasurer Brandon Edwards encouraged all business majors to join.

“The thing about SHRM is that it opens the door. Jobs are waiting for you through SHRM,” he said.

Breast Cancer Awareness is being observed in the month of Octo- ber not only by the community, but by UNCP’s bookstore as well. The bookstore has decorations, clothing and other merchandise that are all pink or give encouraging messages about breast cancer.

Assistant Manager Karin Ellis said that the bookstore participates in Relay for Life each year and it is a year-long process.

Usually, the bookstore has speakers and other events going on, but this month they have no further events planned, Ellis said. The theme of this month is “Octo- ber is all about Pink.”

Sales have been brisk for the bookstore and staff hopes more people will buy the pink items displayed throughout the store.

The bookstore sells pink T-shirts and writing utensils, books that tell women how to give a correct breast exam and other materials related to Breast Cancer Awareness as well.

The books will be on sale for the month of October for 20 percent off. For the staff of the bookstore, the goal is not only to sell merchandise, but to help raise awareness of cancer in general and to give support to survivors.

By Elaine Hewett
Staff Writer

Bookstore takes part in ‘thinking pink’

We invite you to participate in our annual program to bring together our diverse campus community and showcase our uniqueness, but most importantly our unification!

November 15, 2011
9:30 - 10 a.m
UC Annex Assembly Room

Diversity Cafe Series:

Lumbee Landmarks
Dr. Mary Ann Jacobs and Lawrence Locklear take you on a virtual tour while pointing out historical Lumbee landmarks along the way
November 8th
11:30 am - 12:30 pm
Multicultural Center

Honoring Native Food Ways
Join us in honing, understanding, and sampling foods indigenous to the native foods from the local tribal communities.
November 10th
11 am - 2 pm
UC Annex Assembly Room

For more information on services and to schedule a visit:
www.uncp.edu
910.521.6508