Seafood served at Sheff’s

By Riley Thayer
Staff Writer

An ocean of options for seafood is available for Braves at Sheff’s Seafood and Company. Fried and boiled seafood is featured on the menu at the family-owned restaurant located in downtown Pembroke. Shrimp, scallops, oysters, clams and assorted types of fish are some of the meals offered. Dinners can be ordered in different portion sizes and side options, such as a baked potato or fries.

Combination platters can be made and guests can receive an assortment of seafood as well.

Other options are available for guests that are not interested in seafood, such as steak, chicken, salads and ribs.

Guests have the option to order the salad bar, and before meals arrive baskets of hushpuppies are served to tables.

“I love their hushpuppies and honey-baked for some. It’s definitely my favorite part of my meal.”

Sheff’s has a large dining area that provides enough space for larger parties.

“Driving up in Pembroke I used to go every week with my family. It seems really popular with everyone in town and I still go there a lot,” freshman Tori Bell said.

“If you love seafood it is a great place to go and even if you don’t, they will make it work for you!”

No Doubt fans wait no more

By Kayloni Wyatt
Assistant News Editor

Seafood offered at Sheff’s Seafood and Company is a popular choice for students. One of the prominent seafood items available at Sheff’s is the Seafood Platter. The platter consists of a variety of seafood options, including shrimp, clams, and oysters. The platter is very popular among students and is often mentioned as one of their favorite dishes. So, if you’re a fan of seafood and looking for a place to satisfy your cravings, Sheff’s Seafood and Company is definitely worth a visit.

By Kayla Pearson
Around The Town Editor

Burgers, fries and good conversation is just a fun time but was the Center for Leadership and Service’s way of raising money on Jan. 27 for UNCP First Book. Provided with transportation in the University Center, students, faculty and staff all filed into Friendly’s of Pembroke to enjoy each other’s company. “One of my friends said it was a good cause so I said I’d support,” sophomore Dan Pauz said. “It’s something to help kids in need. It’s great how Friendly’s is supporting them.”

A table was set up outside the restaurant that included giveaways for CLS. $1affle tickets were also sold at this table. The prizes were gifts local businesses donated in order to help CLS raise more money. Gifts included a tool box, a workbench complete with power tools and gift certificates.

“All the money from Friendly’s and the raffle will go for our First Book, NC LiteracyCorps Coordinator Chrissy Swett said. “First Book helps low income families buy their first book and start a library.”

First Book is a non-profit organization whose mission is to give elementary and middle school children from low-income families the opportunity to read and own their first books. The UNCP partnership was established in 2005. Last year it gave over 1,500 books and $3,000 through grants to literacy programs in Robeson County.

“It’s a great relief financially to go this way but also a way to give more books out to students,” CLS Director Aurbey Swift said. “We had a lot of people come out to support. I saw allot of faculty and staff,” Chrissy Swift said. Members from the center said they owed allot of their success to the businesses and people who helped. This included Lumberton Ford, Sheff’s, Jersey Mikes, Cici’s Pizza, Pembroke Hardware, Friendly’s, the University Center and all students, faculty and staff who came out.

“This has turned out pretty good. The next one I can only imagine will be better,” Chrissy Swift said.

Friendly’s night hosts First Book

By Kayla Pearson
Around The Town Editor

The lighthouse equipped with a blinking bulb welcomes customers. Orders can be called at (910) 521-4667.

By Reilley Thayer
Staff Writer

Seafood served at Sheff’s Seafood and Company is a popular choice for students. One of the prominent seafood items available at Sheff’s is the Seafood Platter. The platter consists of a variety of seafood options, including shrimp, clams, and oysters. The platter is very popular among students and is often mentioned as one of their favorite dishes. So, if you’re a fan of seafood and looking for a place to satisfy your cravings, Sheff’s Seafood and Company is definitely worth a visit.