Hann named a Preseason All-American

By Matt Smith

SPORTS

Black and Gold 2008 All-American cornerback Caylon Hann picked up another award Aug. 21 in a growing list of accomplishments, as the redshirt junior was named to the Consensus Draft Services Division II Preseason All-American squad.

Hann is named to the second team All-American list by the online publication.

The selection was Hann's second All-American nomination this year, as the Homestead, Fla., native picked up his first as the junior picked up his first as the 2008 season's performance.

In his first season of play in 2009, Hann made his presence known on the field by picking off seven passes in 10 games played for the Black and Gold.

The seven interceptions tied Hann for third-most in all of college football.

Hann also finished tied for fourth on the Braves' top-ranked scoring defense with 51 tackles.

UNCP junior defensive back Caylon Hann was named to the Division II Preseason All-American team.

In football, North Carolina State University paints the NC State logo on the NC State outside end zone.

The rivalry on the field, it's the coaches get a taste of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.

The扩充 of the rivalry would develop and for the Black and Gold.