The Braves women’s soccer team took the field against Mount Olive College on Aug. 27 in their season opener, coming out with a national ranking of 19.

Freshman goalkeeper Rea Segoviano recorded a shutout, making it the team’s second consecutive clean sheet, as the Lady Braves took home a 2-0 win at Amon Field on the campus of Mount Olive College.

Segoviano, a Jacksonville, N.C., native, was only pressured with one shot on the match, while the Mount Olive’s end of the pitch saw more action.

Even with a large number of both shots and corners during the first half, the Lady Braves were unable to find the net until the 26th minute, when Junior Faye Corbett scored past Mount Olive goalkeeper Lyndsey McIntire at the 26:18 mark. Corbett, a native of Bear Creek, N.C., went 72-for-210 for the Black and Gold this season, and earned run average was 2.63, good to earn the award list, with awards usually voted on by the American Coaches Association All-American was named to the North Carolina Collegiate Sports Information Association All-State College Division baseball team.
